
A Day Full of Spirit at the Oregon State Football Game

Christel recently had the thrilling experience of attending the Oregon State football game, where the Beavers triumphed over the Washington State Cougars with a score of 10-7. The excitement in the stadium was palpable, and Christel's enthusiasm for the team was infectious!

From the moment Christel arrived at the game, her energy was undeniable. Dressed in her Oregon State gear, she cheered enthusiastically as the players took the field. The atmosphere was electric, filled with the sounds of the crowd and the vibrant spirit of college football.

Christel's passion for the game extended beyond just watching. She was eager to engage with the entire experience, even rushing the field with the other fans after the game and meeting the cheerleaders and Benny Beaver! Her enthusiasm was a testament to her love for the team and the sense of community that events like this bring.

While Christel's staff member was there to support her during the outing, it was clear that he was just as excited to see her enjoy the game. He assisted her in navigating the stadium, helping her lead the charge to connect with the various activities and ensuring she had a memorable experience. His support allowed Christel to fully immerse herself in the festivities without worry.

Christel's enthusiasm was so contagious that one could almost imagine her on the field playing alongside the team if given the chance! Her spirit and excitement for the game exemplified the joy that sports can bring, not only to the players but also to the fans and supporters.

Attending the Oregon State football game was more than just a fun outing for Christel; it was a celebration of team spirit, community, and the thrill of the game. Her eagerness to engage with all aspects of the event, from meeting cheerleaders to rushing the field, highlights the importance of participation and connection in creating joyful experiences.

We are grateful for the opportunities that allow our clients to engage in such exciting activities, and we look forward to more adventures that foster connection, joy, and a sense of belonging!
Go Beavers!
