

Fair Days with the Sander Guys

The Sander guys headed to Salem this summer for a day at the Oregon State Fair—and there was plenty to see along the way!

The Oregon State Fair is a late-summer tradition that brings together agriculture, animals, exhibits, carnival attractions, entertainment, and an impressive assortment of fair food.

Dave looked right at home near the colorful midway and food stands, where signs for burgers, pizza, fries, and nachos made it difficult to forget that fair food is an attraction all its own.

Matt spent some time checking out the livestock area and visiting the goats, while Mike found several memorable photo opportunities—including posing beside a wooden goat that proudly announced, “Goats Are Great!”

Mike also stopped by a cheerful sunflower display and became part of the exhibit himself. With his face framed by bright yellow petals, he may have been one of the most unique blooms at the fair!

Between the animals, exhibits, food vendors, and amusing discoveries around nearly every corner, the fair gave Dave, Matt, and Mike plenty to explore. It was a relaxed day of wandering, looking, laughing, and enjoying one of Oregon's favorite end-of-summer traditions.
